Guided Notes

Give 1 point per blank. The answers are filled in below.

What is a digital footprint?

All the information about you that can be found online is your digital footprint.

A photo, comment or video you share online is a post.

Searching your own name shows the search results a stranger would see, but not everything.

Who else puts information about you online?

When someone links your name or account to their post, that's a tag.

A post that tags you usually shows up as a notification on your account.

Many people post about others without asking for permission, and that doesn't make anyone a bad person.

What do organizations publish?

A school, team, club or newspaper is an organization.

Team rosters, award lists and concert programs often sit on a public page that anyone can read.

You didn't make that page, so you can't edit it yourself.

What do apps record quietly?

Many apps keep an activity record of what you open, search and watch.

An app's privacy policy explains what it collects and who it shares it with.

Many apps also let you ask for a copy of the data they keep about you.

Exit Ticket

Give 1 point for each multiple-choice question and up to 3 points for question 3, 5 points in all.

1. Correct answer: (A) An organization published it, because the school made the page.

2. Correct answer: (B) A search shows some public pages, but not everything about him.

3. Sample answer: Keith is wrong, because his aunt, his school and his music app all put information about him online. His school is an organization, and it published the roster.

3 points: The answer says Keith has a footprint and matches one item to the right source.

1 point: The answer says Keith is wrong but doesn't name a source, or it names a source but doesn't explain why.

0 points: The answer agrees with Keith, blames him or his aunt, or the box is blank.
